Germany Claims Progress In Crete Battle—British And Greeks Fight Furiously

By W. P. SAPHIRE

CAIRO, May 24.—Air-borne German troops constantly streaming into Crete are being mopped up as fast as they land, the British said today, but it was admitted that the Nazis are expanding their footing around Maleme airport in the west, despite furious allied resistance.

Ceaselessly attacked by German bombers, the British have inflicted heavy losses on the Nazis, it was asserted, while the R. A. F., apparently striking from bases in Egypt or from aircraft carriers, blasted numerous German flying transports.

A communique covering yesterday's operations said: "During May 23 further determined efforts were made by the Germans to reinforce their troops already on the island at Heraklion (Candia) and Retimo (both ports on the north coast)."

"Detachments landed by air were dealt with decisively."

"British authorities in London said it was confirmed that the German..."

PA NEW OBSERVES

On the east side and Croton district Friday people could be seen sawing branches of trees into suitable lengths for firewood, and otherwise attending to tree damage caused by the storm of Thursday.

One new detour has been established in Lawrence county, according to the detour bulletin for the period ending June 6. This is on Route 388, between Routes 108 and 168, or in other words, between the Harlansburg and East Brook roads. It is scheduled for removal November 1. No other work is scheduled in the district as yet.

Motorists have discovered that in addition to the construction of a new bridge over the stream that crosses the Harlansburg road, about four miles east of the city, the highway is being relocated for a considerable distance. The entire curve will be eliminated when the improvement is completed.

Surveys of the city and district reveal that the near tornado of Thursday evening toppled over some of the oldest and largest trees in the immediate vicinity.

President Is Silent On Possible Import Of Tuesday Address

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 24.—President Roosevelt made it apparent today that he intends to keep the world guessing on America's future course in the deadly realm of power politics up to the moment he goes on the air next Tuesday night with his widely heralded fireside chat.

On the basis of his recent informal utterances, observers, anticipated that Mr. Roosevelt would issue a blunt warning to the Axis powers to keep their hands off the western hemisphere and reaffirm the determination of the United States to maintain freedom of the seven seas even if the navy is forced into action.

Silence On Broadcast Text
So far as any word from the White House was concerned, however, there was nothing official on the nature of the momentous May 27 broadcast to the world.

Rome Reveals Several Shots Fired At Auto In Which Men Were Driving

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

ROME, May 24.—King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Shevket Verlaci of Albania had a narrow escape last Saturday, it was revealed today, when several shots were fired at the automobile in which they were riding in Tirana.

Accounts in Rome said the shots were fired by a "madman."

Apparently the bullets were directed toward Verlaci, and not the king of the dual Italian-Albanian kingdom.

No one was wounded.

It was not Victor Emmanuel's first close brush with assassin's bullets.

The diminutive Italian king was brought to the throne by the bullet of an anarchist assassin which killed his father, King Humbert I on July 29, 1900.

Polished Limestone On Display At News

Polished Product Of Union Limestone Company Rivals Marble In Appearance

What appears to be a piece of beautifully polished marble is on display in the News office at the present time. In appearance it looks to be a piece of variegated tan-gray marble that might have come from the old world.

Actually it is a piece of limestone quarried at the Union Limestone Company near Hillsville, but polished by a process which has been perfected by the Shaffer Marble company.

For many years it was thought impossible to put a polish on limestone. After much experimentation the Shaffer people finally developed the art to the point where they are now turning out polished limestone that rivals marble.

Limestone and marble are basically similar in that both are calcium carbonate. With the art of polishing the limestone now an accomplished fact, Lawrence County "marble" should soon be a well known product.

Charges Germany Hedges On Release Of Americans Held

Neutral Source In London Says 140 Americans Being Held Until President's Speech

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 24.—A neutral diplomatic source in London charged today that Germany is "hedging" regarding disposition of the 140 Americans now held at Nazi-occupied St. Jean De Luz after being removed from the sunken Egyptian liner Bamzam.

According to this source the Germans are playing a waiting game regarding the Americans pending President Roosevelt's scheduled radio address Tuesday night.

If the Germans consider this speech unsatisfactory, it was asserted, the Americans probably will be held in German custody for an indefinite period.

Germany Says Largest British Warship Is Sunk

Report From Berlin Reveals H. M. S. Hood Sunk In Battle Near Iceland

LARGEST BATTLE CRUISER OF FLEET

H. M. S. Hood Regarded As Most Formidable Battle Ship In World

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, May 24.—Loss of the mighty battle-cruiser Hood, the greatest of all the world's warships, in a furious engagement with German naval forces off the coast of Greenland was officially admitted by the Admiralty tonight.

The Hood, the Admiralty said, received an "unlucky hit" in her powder magazine and "blew up."

One German battleship was damaged in the engagement.

The enemy still is being pursued, the Admiralty declared, indicating that the battle may be far from over.

"It is feared there will be few survivors from the Hood," the Admiralty admitted, indicating a heavy loss of life among the Hood's normal complement of 1341 men and officers.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BERLIN, May 24.—Germany today announced her greatest naval victory of the war—destruction of a gigantic British battle cruiser, probably the Hood, in a battle off Iceland.

One of the Nazis newest and most powerful battleships, the Bismarck, was credited with the sinking.

The famous Hood, a 42,000-ton craft carrying 1341 men, was the world's largest and most formidable battle wagon.

"German naval forces operating in the north Atlantic under Admiral Lutetian, established contact with heavy British naval forces in the waters around Iceland," a communique said.

"During the ensuing encounter the German battleship Bismarck destroyed a British battle cruiser, probably H. M. S. Hood."

Largest Battle Cruiser
Since Britain has not other war craft approaching the Hood's size—the next largest are the Nelson and Rodney, each 33,950 tons, and the new King George V and Prince of Wales, each 35,000 tons—it was believed that the German identification was accurate.

"Another British battleship was (Continued On Page Two)

Urge Leaders To Keep U.S. Out Of War

Col. Lindbergh Makes New Plea

Senator Wheeler Also Makes Address To Huge Crowd In New York

ASSERT NATION IS BEING LED TO WAR

(International News Service) NEW YORK, May 24.—Fervent pleas for strong government leadership to keep the United States out of war, and sharp attacks on President Roosevelt's foreign policy were left today by Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D) Montana.

Addressing a rally of the America first committee attended by a throng of 22,000 who jammed Madison Square Garden and another 10,000 who packed the streets outside, Lindbergh called for an "independent destiny" in order that "American boys will not be sent across the ocean to die so that England or Germany or France or Spain may dominate the other nations."

Denouncing One-Man Government. Wheeler, who denounced "one-man government" and warned that the American people might lose faith if the President disregards his campaign pledges not to take the nation into a foreign war, urged the President to "appeal to all the people of the world" to stop the war. Both Lindbergh and Wheeler reiterated their opinion that America cannot be invaded.

Lindbergh asserted that America has nothing to fear. "With adequate leadership we can be the strongest and most influential nation in the world," he said. "No other country has as great resources. None is as easily defended. We lack only a leadership that places America first."

Criticizing the present leadership, the famous flyer said the nation has been led toward war against the opposition of four-fifths of the people.

PRESIDENT IS SILENT ON POSSIBLE IMPORT OF TUESDAY ADDRESS

(Continued From Page One) have called for repeal of the neutrality act, and half a dozen members of the cabinet have joined in warning that America must keep a steady supply of war goods flowing to Great Britain regardless of consequences, the president played his own cards close to the vest over the week end.

Devoting long hours to the draft of what promises to be one of his most spectacular state papers, the chief executive resisted all efforts of congress and the press to get a preview.

Recent utterance of the president, nevertheless, pointed to the declaration of a firm and aggressive policy on the part of the United States government.

May Touch Vichy Action. Complete capitulation of the Vichy government of France prompted Mr. Roosevelt to formally express concern over possible encroachments by the Axis powers on territory in the West Indies and in Africa which would afford a jumping off place to South America.

The German threat that American ships would be sunk in the Red Sea if they attempted to transport war supplies to Britain brought from the president a recollection that the United States navy had fought two undeclared wars to free the seas of pirates.

Attempts at Friday evening's press conference, however, to draw the president into a further discussion of these matters were futile.

Repeatedly, Mr. Roosevelt fell back on the statement that he only knew what he read in the papers. He declined to answer direct questions and parried leading ones—all aimed at drawing from him some advance information on what may be recommended with respect to the neutrality act and the transport of supplies to Britain.

The president began work on his Tuesday night broadcast last Thursday, devoting three hours to dictation of an original draft. Again yesterday, he worked on it, and planned to devote most of the week end to its perfection.

"The German naval forces continued their operations without having suffered damage of significance," the battle was the second to occur in the waters to which Germany recently extended her war zone.

Claim Munitions Ship Sunk. Earlier informed German sources said that a 7,000-ton British munitions ship was torpedoed by a German U-boat and sent to the bottom off Greenland—which the United States recently took under its protection.

The munitions vessel was one of the craft which the German high command said, fell victims to submarines in forays that sank 100,300 tons of British shipping.

Although the German supreme command gave few details of the astonishing fight, all information here shows that this was the first major sea battle of the war between the Anglo-German main fleets.

Admiral Leutjen is the famous commander who blasted an entire Atlantic convoy recently, according to the Germans.

If the sunken battleship (as the Germans identify the Hood, although she actually is a battle cruiser) proves to be the mighty Hood, Nazi naval authorities say the battle demonstrates amazing fighting power for the new 35,000-ton craft, such as the Bismarck.

Less than one two-billionth of the sun's energy is intercepted by the earth, as its energy radiates in all directions.

mans had been totally expelled from Candia and Retimo. Yesterday Cairo, too, said the Germans at the two ports were "accounted for." The apparent discrepancies were not immediately explained by British officials.

(Germany announced full control of the western part of the island, but did not mention Candia or Retimo.)

Fierce Battle Rages. London, May 24.—A fierce battle raged around the Maleme airfield on the Greek island of Crete as British and Greek forces struggled to blast the German invaders from their hastily fortified stronghold.

This airfield formed the last major point of resistance still in German hands. British forces subjected it to a terrific hammering from positions to the east.

Official British quarters admitted that some German troops succeeded in landing on Crete from Greek fishing boats. These were the first sea-borne landings confirmed by the British.

Report 6,000 Germans Drowned. Latest advice to London from the embattled Mediterranean island confirmed that Anglo-Greek defenders had totally expelled the Nazis from the northern coastal city of Candia and also from Retimo.

At Candia the British captured all supplies which had been dropped to the German aerial troops by parachute. At Retimo the hard-fighting British gained possession of the entire town and its nearby airport.

These reports, plus word that 6,000 Germans had been drowned in a futile attempt to invade Crete from the sea, aroused jubilation in official British quarters today.

Although Candia and Retimo were recaptured by the defenders, fierce fighting was in progress all over the island as Anglo-Greek forces battled isolated bands of Nazi parachute and air-borne troops.

The Greeks and their hardy supporters, sharp-shooting Cretan guerrilla fighters, were described as fighting "like scalded cats."

Claims Of Germany

Berlin May 24.—All the western part of Crete is "firmly in German hands," the supreme command announced today, the British fleet has been crippled and routed, and the Nazis have achieved air supremacy over the whole island.

In the eastern part of the island fighting has become "purely localized," the Germans said, and it is "only a question of time" before the allied defenders are forced to surrender en masse.

News of the successful attack on Crete was accompanied by the statement that invasion of Britain is virtually a certainty, although the eastern Mediterranean may be mopped up before the final, decisive blow is struck.

British defenders of the island apparently have been jammed back to the mountains and beaches in the eastern part.

Authorities indicated that today's announcement actually covered Nazi operations in Crete only during the first two days of the fight. Therefore they assumed that further great progress has been made in the last three days, to be announced over the week-end.

Fellow Rotarians

We will have in thirty minutes a speech covering: "A Hundred Years of Photography," by Mr. Glen Carpenter, partner of Ed Seavy. Maybe he will tell us what became of the birdie the Photographers had.

We had a very fine program last week, one that made us proud of our town. We feel that Miss Christina Giannotti did not get proper recognition and some of us uncouth members might not know that "Baton twirling" and student conducting means that she is the drum major-ette in the white uniform at the head of the band and she always gets and always deserves a big hand.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

CHILDREN'S DAY TESTS
In the Protestant churches of the United States there is the practice of having "Children's Day" in June, a kind of graduating ceremony for the Sunday school. Already many such programs are being prepared for this year.

The purpose and general effect is good. The program dramatizes for the adults of the church the work of the Sunday school. It brings out many parents who seldom come to church at other times. The children like it, as a rule, and are made to feel that their Sunday school is a worthy part of the church program. Parents sometimes rude.

It is to be regretted that some parents reveal bad manners at the Children's Day program. Even some of the pillars of the church will be rude without knowing it. They will laugh at a little child who happens to forget his lines or when they think a tot is cunning. They act toward the program more as if it were a vaudeville performance than as a serious dramatization of moral and religious ideals.

I wish the pastor of the church would seize upon the occasion to lead his congregation to learn proper manners toward children, reminding these adults how rude it is to laugh during the program.

Until parents do acquire better manners toward children, it would seem desirable to limit practically all public programs put on by children of the church or public school, to group performances, especially with the young children. The public school already is doing so in many places. Yet there may be great values to be gained from individual performances in public when the performer is well prepared and when he has a courteous audience.

Child Wins a Victory
In a certain elementary school I witnessed a program on one of our national holidays. Several sixth grade children appeared individually. One child, however, forgot her lines and as she did, the children of the audience laughed. She was so overwhelmed emotionally that she gave up and left the platform. The next number was a chorus.

Following this number, the chairman, a sixth grade girl, calmly rose and, on her own initiative, said, "At this place we are going to ask Elizabeth to come back and finish her section." The children applauded vigorously. And Elizabeth came. She conquered, too, and what a roar of applause went up. It was one of the most thrilling triumphs I have ever witnessed. I felt like getting up and shouting.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. At what age should a child have explained to him the "facts of life?"

A. As soon as he asks questions related to this matter, answer him. A selected list of books on this subject may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a three-cent stamp on a self-addressed envelope.

Q. "Should the nervous child ever be punished for naughty deeds?"

A. As a rule, he should, together with ample outlets for acceptable and satisfying activities. He may be in more need of discipline than the poised child. No better way to help the child to grow jittery than to let him do as he pleases.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:16. Sun rises tomorrow 4:37.

With the men now wearing straw hats, the women have their chance of revenge upon the critics of millinery.

Now would be a good time for Spring to have her picture taken.

In the old days a shotgun was the weapon of defense and it was kept handy if needed quickly.

The Democrats in the Pennsylvania legislature are planning to reduce taxes, in spite of the fact that more money than ever will be needed. Politics again!

There was a man
Who had a clock,
His name was
Matthew Mears,
And every day
He wound that clock
For eight and twenty years.

And then one day
He found that clock
An eight-day clock
To be;
And a madder man
Than Matthew Mears
You would not care to see.

I know an absent-minded lady
Professor who powdered her shoes
And shined her nose.

People do not have much respect
For people who make promises
And do not keep them.

I know a young fellow who says
He'd rather have a miss in his car
Than two in his motor.

My idea of the man who pays in the long run is the inveterate speeder.

A female writer tells gals if they want to have boys value their kisses they should make them rare and

BITTER TEST

The boat was sinking and skipper rushed up to a crowd of scared passengers. "Who among you can pray?" he asked them.

"I can," answered a minister.
"Then pray, mister!" ordered the skipper. "The rest of you put on life preservers. We're one short."

Question: Is the expression
"Aren't I" correct?—Ginger.

Answer: According to grammarians,
"Am I not" is the only correct form, and there is no contraction for this expression. However, since "Am I not" is somewhat difficult for little children, mothers frequently teach them to say "Aren't I" to avoid the possibility of the vulgarism "ain't".

Question: Is it necessary to wear black when attending the funeral of a friend or is this necessary for only those members of the family at the head of the procession?—Lily.

Answer: Friends who attend the funeral need not dress in mourning.
They should, however, avoid bright colors.

Question: I have invited a friend to visit me and attend some games and shows. Am I obliged to pay her traveling and hotel expenses? Just what are my duties?—M.

Answer: Meet her at the station and take her to your home where she should be invited to remain during her visit. If, for some reason you cannot ask her to stay at your house, you should offer to pay her hotel expenses if you can afford to do so. Her traveling expenses are her own. Tickets to games and shows should be supplied by you.
If she offers to take you to lunchon, dinner, etc., accept.

Jesse Jones Will Have Job On Hands
To Undermine Axis In South America
Legislation Necessary To Aid Plans

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 24. — The Jones twins (Commerce Secretary
Jesse Jones, and Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones — President Roosevelt merged 'em when he took the original Administrator Jesse into his cabinet without relieving him of his loan bureaucratic duties) have been drafted to direct the campaign intended to hunt the Axis powers out of Latin America.

An act of congress will be necessary to broaden the Loan Administrator Jesse Jones' Reconstruction Finance corporate authority adequately for the purpose, but the needed legislation already is pending and sure to go through.

You see, dear reader, the Germans are pretty strongly entrenched economically in the southern republics. So are the British, but the last war weakened them considerably. This was because their home folk called on their South American branch establishments for every cent they could rake and scrape to finance their fight in Europe. Consequently the Armistice found their branch houses badly depleted financially. They haven't fully recovered yet.

The Kaiser doubtless hollered his head off to his branches, too. Germany, however, was so effectively blockaded that its subsidiaries, however hard they may have tried, couldn't transmit their funds. Hence the war ended with their branch banks and commercial concerns simply bursting with locally accumulated cash. They invested it locally thereupon, in utilities and all sorts of things. In a business way, this made 'em potent in that part of the world.

U. S. Missed Opportunity

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
NEW YORK—Sir Gerald Campbell, British minister to the United States, believes that a new order is being born in Britain as the result of common suffering and danger.

"The flame of our common effort has burned away the barriers of class and caste which has so complicated the pattern of our social life and has left us a people united as never before."

ATLANTIC CITY—Col. William J. Donovan, President Roosevelt's personal war observer, calls for an honest American policy.

"If we are going to aid England, we ought to be prepared to run the risk of getting it there. . . and if we are prepared to run that risk, we should be on the level with England and tell her so."

SAN FRANCISCO—Captain Howard L. Vickery, head of the United States Maritime commission's shipbuilding program, urges use of the American navy to convoy goods to Britain.

"Our aid to Britain now is a matter of pure, unadulterated self-interest. We have got to take the price tag off our efforts."

SHANGHAI—Rear Admiral U. S. Glassford, commander of the U. S. Yangtze Naval Patrol, believes that battle of the Atlantic "at this moment" is being lost by the Allies.

"We are not only facing inevitable defeat of England and collapse of the British Empire but also defeat of the United States unless something is done."

THE FAIRIES RETURN
Just an old fossil, a fool if you will. A fellow that's lost to the knack of all up-to-date methods in business, but still.

I tell you the fairies are back! The fairies Miss Janet knew, when she was small.

Are back in the flower beds down by the wall.

When Janet began to get grownup and wise.

And perhaps just a little bit vain; The fairies rode off on their blue-bottle flies.

Saying: "Never you'll see us again!"

And year after year all the summer time through.

Never once has the leprechaun come into view.

But yesterday, walking the grandson about.

And stealthily snooping around. From the depth of a tulip a fairy popped out.

With a spring and a leap and a bound.

And he said, "Though Miss Janet once gave us the sack.

For the sake of your grandchildren we're coming back."

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1941)
By The Baltimore Sun

Just Muddled

WASHINGTON, May 24. — IT is interesting that every time one of the more radical of the New Deal group is elevated to an important post in the defense organization there is a revival of the attacks upon the dollar-a-year industrialists by the Administration spokesmen, journalistic and political.

THAT happened when Mr. Harry Hopkins was put in to operate the Lease-Lend Act. It happened when Mr. Leon Henderson was named as head of the Price Control Commission. It happened again when Mr. Wayne Coy, former an Indian protégé of Mr. Paul McNutt's but later an intimate associate of Mr. Hopkins in the WPA management, was named as director of the OEM. It has just happened again following an announcement that Mr. Isadore Lubin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics and a very not New Dealer indeed, has been named as "economic adviser" on the defense program and is to be "closely associated" with Mr. Hopkins.

ON the same day that the Lubin selection became public there appeared various newspaper articles citing instances of stupidity upon the part of industrialists in the defense organization which contribute to the confusion and which impede progress. The incidents cited were small and the case which it was sought to make out did not seem very substantial. The general purpose appeared to be to convey the idea that all following exalted men among the businessmen, who overlapped and conflicted.

NONE of which seems to be news and all of which can be very simply explained by the failure of the President to put one man at the head of his defense effort and clothe him with adequate power. Conflict and confusion, duplication and waste are inevitable accompaniments of any undertaking in which there is no real boss. There is no one boss in the defense organization; there are a score and more bosses of big and little degree, all issuing orders and every one with his own little managerial setup.

UNDER the circumstances it speaks pretty well for the competency and the disinterestedness of the dollar-a-year men here that the conflict of authority has been kept within reasonable limits and has not become really dangerous. The setup isn't theirs; it is the President's. They are not responsible for the confusion; he is. And the real bewildering and the real reason the effort lags are due to the President's insistence upon thrusting into the key positions his untrained New Deal aides, who, without so much as a trace of business experience, are put in authority over a business undertaking of gigantic size of an emergency nature.

MANY of these men are not only inexperienced but congenitally incompetent, with their heads full of national-socialization ideas and a conviction that the present crisis affords a chance to move toward their dubious goals. Their hostility to the dollar-a-year industrialists is intense and sometimes undisguised. When it is considered that the industrialists here, working for nothing and paying their own expenses, are expected to co-operate with these Administration aides, it is something of a tribute that so few instances of conflict and incompetence can be attributed to them.

THERE is a suspicion that these frequent publicity barrages against them are designed to cover up the fact that all the New Dealers now being put in defense jobs are being very well paid—in practically every instance given higher salaries than they ever received before. This, of course, nothing wrong about this, and it is relatively unimportant. The important thing is whether they are the right men to manage so stupendous and vital a job.

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopedia Britannica)

MAY 24

1816—Emanuel Leutze, artist, Wurtemberg, Germany. His best known work is "Washington Crossing the Delaware." He decorated the stairway in the national capitol with a large composition, "Westward the Star of Empire Takes Its Way."

1857—Richard Mansfield, actor, at Berlin, Germany. His first American success was in "A Parisian Romance." Among his other successes were "Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Prince Karl," and "Monsieur Beaucaire."

1863—George Grey Barnard, sculptor, at Bellefonte, Pa. Among his famous works are "Two Natures," "Great God Pan," and "Adam and Eve." In 1912 he completed two groups of 31 statues for the Pennsylvania capitol at Harrisburg.

CENTRALIZATION OF POWER

IN SPITE of our continuing fealty to the principles of free, representative government, there is no question that the trend to the totalitarian method has made headway over the world during the past few years. This is true even in our own country where there has been a consistent move toward the centralization of power at Washington.

Our founding fathers built up a system of checks and balances in government. They provided for separate executive, legislative and judicial departments, each with its separate functions and they provided for state and local governments. The rights of states were jealously safeguarded.

In these modern streamlined times, however, the centralizing of power at Washington is weakening the powers of the states. One of the statesmen recently to call attention to this regrettable fact was Governor Dwight Green, of Illinois, who, in speaking to newspapermen of his own state, called on the press to fight the tendency toward centralization of government, with the weakening of constitutional privileges. One way to do this, he added, is to preserve the two-party system, and he called attention to the fact, not often pointed out, that state and local governments must be kept on the highest plane so they may deserve to keep the powers accorded them by the Constitution. In part, the Governor said:

"It is imperative that state and local administrations be placed and kept on the highest plane of sincerity and honesty lest their rights and duties be absorbed by centralized government."

"So that this government shall not die, let no elected official raise himself above the constitutional law. That road is dangerous because the placing of all power within the reach of the executive could bring dictatorship."

"There is no conviction that a free press can bring home so forcefully to the American people as the conviction that no one, anywhere or at any time, shall have unlimited power. It is upon that conviction the public rests."

"Preservation of America's way of life largely depends upon the check rein created by the opposition of party against party. Time and experience have demonstrated this, and we must maintain a strong opposition party if we are to remain a constitutional republic. It is our guarantee against total centralizations of governmental power."

In this time above all others do Americans want to see to it that when many demand that we save democracy abroad, we do not lose it at home.

HANDS OFF LIBERTY BELL

It would be difficult to imagine the Liberty Bell without a crack in it. For generations it has been symbolic of a rare type of patriotism which won for the people of the United States the freedom they enjoy today.

But science in the form of Prof. Charles E. Park of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology would like to change things around a little. He believes that the crack can be eliminated by a modern electric welding process.

Think of that! Take the crack out of the Liberty Bell to give it the air of soundness! It is unlikely that many persons will go for this idea and, happy report, the officials at Philadelphia who have charge of the bell are not highly interested, either. It is better so.

There are some things in this nation which should be immune to meddling. Fixing the crack of the Liberty Bell would be tantamount to putting a good pair of arms on the Venus de Milo, or building a modern tomb for the resting place of George Washington.

Restoration has its useful application and on occasion it has been accomplished with good results, but it is carrying things much too far when the restorationists want to weld the Liberty Bell around which so much tradition centers.

The offer of the able scientist from Boston, probably put forward in an enthusiastic moment, is not appreciated and in this instance the people will have the final say about their beloved relic. And they want the bell to stay as it has been these many years.

There are plenty of good bells in working order in the United States. The nation can afford to keep one, crack and all, for purposes of sentiment and patriotism.

EMPLOYMENT PROBLEMS

Among the strains of employment dislocations currently reported in the United States are those in the white collar ranks in the big cities. Many employers believe it is developing into a major squeeze.

The draft is partly responsible because it takes many youths just getting a start in business. But by far the greater factor is that low-salaried white collar youths are going to night classes to learn mechanical work that will fit them for big paying union jobs in defense industries.

For example, page boys and messengers in New York City banks are walking out of jobs paying $750 per year to become workers in industries that will pay them more per year. In Chicago's downtown banks, stores, insurance offices and other business places moderate losses have been noted, and personnel directors foresee far greater desertions when new defense factories now building are under operation.

Many employers in large cities are advertising for totally inexperienced high school graduates to fill vacancies. Under pressure white collar salaries are going up in such places.

In some places employers are turning to girls to replace lost help. This in turn is creating a shortage of maids and other domestic help. Defense industries are attracting some of these women, and there is a rising number of marriages due to increased incomes.

If the men who are loudly demanding we go to war were of the age and physical condition to go into the training camps we doubt whether there would be so many men loudly demanding hostilities.

A lot of boys go to college to get a bachelor's degree but very few of them remain that way.

Fenati Debut Huge Success

Close To 700 Persons Gather
In The Cathedral Friday
Evening For Event

Tobe Fenati's debut as a dramatic tenor—staged in The Cathedral Friday evening—rates an avalanche of stars.

The former New Castle High athlete "sold himself" outright to approximately 700 home town folks.

Co-starred with his teacher, Martino Rossi, nationally known baritone of New York, the local young man easily secured the audience's imprimatur.

The handsome Fenati displayed poised, wonderful tone control and quality tone full of resonance. His manner of presentation gripped the listeners no end. For his debut, Fenati selected an unusually difficult array of operatic offerings. He nevertheless, rendered the selections exceedingly well.

Rossi sang with beauty of tone, fine artistry and displayed all the remaining essentials that belong to truly great artists.

Fenati offered four solos and two duets, appearing with his teacher. The audience departed sincerely feeling that Fenati is destined to rise high in the musical world.

Miss Beatrice Laconi of this city was accompanist. Armas Jokinen, a local accordionist, pleased the audience with several selections.

A concert, presented by a local orchestra, was among the highlights. During the program, Frank C. Summers, who supervised the staging of the event, made an address in which he outlined Fenati's career.

Proceeds from last evening's affair will be used to further Fenati's career.

Conference For Ship Owners Is Called Tuesday

Will Determine What Vessels Can Be Made Available For British Aid

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 24. — The Maritime commission today called a conference of ship owners in the Atlantic and Gulf coastwise trades to determine what portion of these vessels may be made available for use in aiding Great Britain.

In a telegram to all owners and operators of such ships, authorized representatives were asked to be present at the meeting Tuesday at the Maritime commission in Washington. The conference will "develop what tonnage now engaged" in normal shipping "is suitable for transfer to other facilities to aid the national defense."

The survey, it was said, will cover vessels which may be available to transport strategic commodities in both short and long sea voyages.

HERE'S HOW NAZIS PREPARED FOR GLIDER ATTACKS

Use of gliders in the assault from the air on the Greek island of Crete is not a recent German innovation. For years, the Nazis have been training their young men to pilot the motorless craft, as shown in this picture taken at a glider competition in Rhon, Germany. The glider shown can carry only one or two men, but those used in the attempted invasion of Crete carry at least a dozen.

On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SLOWNESS IN BEGINNING TO WALK NOT SURE SIGN CHILD IS ABNORMAL

I have a letter from a grandmother who is very much disturbed because her grandchild, an apparently healthy baby of twenty months, can't walk unaided and cannot say a single word. However, the child seems to understand what is said to it.

It seems like an extraordinary case because the child has never been ill, hasn't even had a cold, in fact, she is well formed, has all the teeth a child of her age should have.

The grandmother seems to have worked herself into a distressed state of mind, because she is convinced her grandchild is suffering from a birth injury.

Well, I haven't seen the child and a diagnosis by mail is not reliable. But from the description the grandmother has given of the baby, I'd be willing to bet that the child just happens to be slow about doing certain things and that one day she will suddenly begin to walk and talk and will soon overtake in proficiency other babies who had these talents before she had.

It's always a source of argument among even the experts, what age a child should walk and talk. I have found that it all depends on the child itself. Some children walk and talk extremely early, others are late. I have known children who didn't either walk or talk until they were three or even four years old. Yet when they did start, they quickly developed and in a few months or a year were just as proficient at these things as other children their age.

Sometimes we find that a child is born with certain conditions of the brain that require an extraordinarily long time adjusting themselves. There doesn't seem to be the same co-operation between the various parts of the brain that there is in ordinary children. But when the adjustment does take place, they are quite normal.

Girl Scouts Will Assemble At Rally

Parents, Guests To See Scout Activities At Senior High School, Wednesday Evening

Following the rehearsal held this morning at 10 o'clock in the Senior High school auditorium, plans for the city-wide girl scout gathering are near completion and are well under way, according to a report made by Mrs. Margaret Wheldon, coach of the rally.

The girl scout gathering will take place on Wednesday, May 28 at 7:30 o'clock in the Senior High School and the general chairman for the event is Mrs. I. Henley, a member of the local girl scout council.

All the members of the local troops will be present to participate in the formal opening and closing. Invitations have been extended to nearly all troops to join the New Castle scouts on this day. Invitations have also been extended to parents and guests, who are asked to sit in the balcony where they will have a better vantage point to see the scouts themselves and to see the "girl scouts in action."

A short presentation of scout activities in New Castle this past winter put on by members of Troop 1, 7, 15, Sr. 3, and Sr. 4, will be featured. Girl Scouts of Senior Troop 2 will be ushers. Also of equal interest to scouts and parents alike will be the colored motion pictures of the American camp held at Camp Andre Clarke, Pleasantville, N. Y., taken last summer. This is the first showing of these pictures in this section, and the scouts are looking forward to the exhibit. Every girl scout is anxiously awaiting this annual get together, and all in all they will make an interesting picture in their trim uniforms and smiling faces.

Referee Disqualifies Baer In Wierd Battle

Louis Wins When Baer's Manager Refuses To Leave Ring

CLAIM LOUIS' PUNCH LANDED A "TER BELL"

By JACK IAHON

(International News Service Sports Writer) WASHINGTON, May 24.—Out of a blood-stained mist of bruises and bewilderment, a battered, gargoylish Buddy Baer staggered today pitifully mounting a hopeless claim of the world's heavyweight title but positively guaranteed a return match with Joe Louis, who last night conquered him in the most nightmarish heavyweight title bout since the Dempsey-Firpo heart-stopper in 1923.

Though Buddy and his manager, Anell Hoffman visited the district of Columbia Boxing Commission this morning demanding that Referee Arthur Donovan's seventh round disqualification of Baer be reversed and Buddy be given the title because of a Louis foul, Major Ernest W. Brown, commission chairman, declared his board would uphold the referee's verdict.

The fight, first heavyweight championship battle out in this city's history, ended in fictional fashion with Baer, six feet four inches of battered but gallant frustration, being dragged to his corner after a highly-criticized Louis haymaker. Ninety per cent of the ringside critics agreed Louis had slugged a totally whipped Baer after the bell. Referee Donovan ruled the punch had landed just as the bell sounded, flooring Baer—actually knocking him out.

As soon as the wrecked carcass of the amazing Mr. B. had been hauled to his hempen haven, Trainer Izzy Klein and Manager Joe Samuels charged across the ring. They demanded that Buddy be given a rest because "Louis had hit him ten seconds after the bell ended the sixth round."

Refuses To Leave Ring

What followed was the climax of one of the wildest but most shockingly thrilling fights ever witnessed. Have a few delirium tremens at no extra charge. In rapid succession (1) Donovan all but lost his head as he screamed for the pair to leave the ring; (2) the bell for the seventh sounded and Louis leaped off his stool; (3) Hoffman refused to leave the ring and Louis' managers Julian Black and John Roxborough leaped into it; (4) Baer, lay like a broken and bloody china doll, on his stool; (5) Donovan stopped the fight and disqualifying Buddy because his manager wouldn't leave the ring.

This was only the final time of madness that saw the first round end in a welter of confusion in which Donovan and the fighters thought the bell had sounded twenty seconds, or so, before it actually did; saw both judges and the official timekeeper agree that Baer had been hit after the bell ended

Boxers Await Monday Night

Sixteen Scheduled To Meet In Eight Amateur Bouts Here

KOVAL AND MOROSKY, 'HEAVIES', MEET

Sixteen amateur fighters, each primed with a desire to climb the pugilistic ladder and some day be a professional champ are on edge and awaiting the bell at 8:30 p. m., Monday in The Arena. They're training conscientiously and reportedly hope to be returned a winner. One of the eight battles will find two local rivals, Les Leasure and Russ Baxter, middleweights, boxing for the County championship.

Russell has had more experience than Leasure. He is reputedly a flashier boxer but whether or not he is a stiffer puncher remains to be seen. Trainers of both boys have expressed confidence in the ability of their respective proteges to win.

Another hot fight should ensue when Billy Reale, the plow-boy of Castledown tackles the Brownsville

Other bouts carded by the Jefferson A. C. for the benefit of police uniforms, follows: Johnny Koval, Farrell vs. George Morosky, Brownsville, heavyweights; Johnny Watson, Vestaburg vs. Tommy Brockan, Warren, welterweights; Jimmie Eadie, Vestaburg vs. Billy Ferrick, Youngstown, junior, lightweights; Larry Retardo, Ellwood City vs. Lloyd McKinn, Warren; lightweights; Tommy Magistro, Farrell vs. Sammy Reghetti, Warren, welterweights; Fred Conti, Farrell vs. Dennis Harvey, Warren, flyweights.

The boxers will do no more than loosening-up exercises tomorrow and take a short walk Monday to keep their muscles limber. The show will be in charge of the State Athletic commission and Amateur Athletic union, sanctions for the promotion having been issued by both bodies.

Two Flyweights To Meet

Moore At West Pittsburgh

Down at West Pittsburgh Danny DeGenova and his "Gas House" gang will play hosts to the Moose club and hope to win their third game of the season. Manager DeGenova has selected either Dick Powell or Brakovich to do the "Gas House" twirling and has hopes of a victory over the Mooers. The Moose will start Henderson more than likely.

Raytown At West Side

Lee, evening field Sunday will be the scene of a friendly rival battle with the Raytown team and West Side A. C. clubs tangling for the West Side championship. The West Siders, after their startling triumph over the Lawrence Indies Friday night, will be full of confidence and will try to make it two straight by dumping the Raytowns.

Manager Len Gilbert will start Pyle on the hill, or it may be Bechtel, with Manager Joe Samuels countering with Dolly Hartman.

Croton At Slovaks

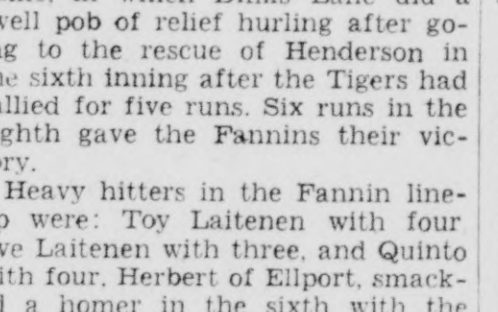

Down at the Clifton Flats field, the Croton A. C. will meet the Slovak club in a league game that will be a humdinger, no doubt, as the Crotons are riding high in third place in the standing with two wins and one loss. Croton will pitch Pepe or Stone, with Manager Steve Gonda probably giving the starting nod to either Prybyski or Janoski.

How Louis Back-Dived In First

Here's how mammoth challenger Buddy Baer, a 10-to-1 underdog, somersaulted Champion Joe Louis through the ropes in the first round of their bout in Washington's Griffith Stadium. Referee Arthur Donovan's disqualification of Baer in the seventh round left the 25,000 fans screaming and threw the ring into a turmoil of confusion when Louis' hand was raised as victor.

Stewart Halts Indies Streak

West Side A. C. Goes Extra-Innings To Defeat Lawrence Indies 3 To 2 Friday

Young "Feller" Stewart is the hero of the West Side today and all because he was not afraid of the hard-hitting Lawrence Indies the 1940 champions of the City League, as he stood out on the mound at Lee avenue field last night in a postponed game and halted the three-game winning streak of the Indies 3 to 2 with a well pitched seven-hit game.

The West Side finally broke into the winning column and it was the highly touted Indies team that made it possible by kicking away three errors behind the superb pitching of Majocha who allowed but four hits and fanned six men. Stewart whiffed three Indies. Sisley was the leading batter with two hits for the West Siders, while Monk Rainey and Maka Budai were the heavy hitters for the losers with two blows apiece. Maher tallied the winning run in the last of the eighth.

Response To Appeal For U. S. O. Is Most Gratifying Says Flaherty

Let's Help Keep Them Smiling

These young Americans will win your contributions from the nation's posters to be used in the outdoor advertising campaign of the United Service Organizations which starts June 3. The U. S. O. will operate more than 360 service clubs in military and naval camps and defense areas with funds realized in its drive for $10,765,000. This painting is from the brush of Hayden-Hayden.

"The response to our urgent appeal for assistance from the men and women of New Castle and vicinity to smash thru a victorious campaign for the United Service Organizations has been both inspiring and gratifying," said P. J. Flaherty, chairman of the local USO campaign, in an interview today.

"From the busy executive to the man in the street," continued Mr. Flaherty, "have come return mailing cards, telephone calls, even telegrams saying that these patriotic Americans are not only willing but eager to back our men in uniform, and our defense workers, by throwing their personal efforts behind the campaign for funds for the USO. I am confident that we will have a great turnout at the organization meeting next Tuesday in The Castleton at 12:15 p. m. I am even more confident that these hard hitting, united American citizens who head the committees will lead this community to a glorious realization of our goal in this first patriotic campaign of the present national emergency."

Many inquiries have come to the local United Service Organizations headquarters as to just what the movement's purpose will be. The News, co-operating with the committee on publicity, reprints the following detailed explanation on this national citizen defense movement.

The Organization
What is the U. S. O.? The letters U. S. O. stand for the United Service Organizations for National Defense, Inc., a non-profit corporation which brings together six national agencies in a common program of service to our defenders. These agencies are: The Young Men's Christian Association, the National Catholic Community Service, the Salvation Army, the Young Women's Christian Association, the Jewish Welfare Board and the National Travelers Aid Association.

Who will U. S. O. serve? Soldiers, sailors, marines and defense workers, young women as well as men in camps, bases and manufacturing areas where there are no adequate resources in nearby communities for recreational and welfare activities.

Will the U. S. O. supplant the present work of its constituent agencies? No. The U. S. O. is a planning and coordinating group. The individual agencies operate the program which will have elements common to all of the participating agencies. Each one will be allotted a portion of the U. S. O. program, planned and coordinated to serve our youth engaged in defense.

Origin
How did the U. S. O. originate? The agencies felt it was just as much their duty to volunteer their services and experiences in a defense emergency as in actual war.

Did the government wish this?

The President, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy and the Federal Security Administrator, not only welcomed the offer but directly asked the agencies to take over a specific program.

What prompted their request? It became evident that while the Government could conduct morale and welfare work within camps and bases, there was need for the same sort of work in areas near camps and defense centers which could serve the youth while they were off duty.

Why Not The Government?
Isn't this duplication of the Government activities? No. The Army and Navy can only be responsible for activities within their own military reservations.

Isn't that activity sufficient? No. It has been found that young men when off duty want to leave the government reservations and mingle with civilian life. There is also a national problem arising from the migration of thousands of families in connection with defense industries.

Why can't they be left to their own resources when off duty? It has been found that areas surrounding camps are inadequate in their resources for men who come to town by the thousands, find themselves without proper recreational facilities, without friends and with little to do but to stand on street corners or be importuned by those who seek to exploit service men commercially or viciously.

How U. S. O. Will Work
How will U. S. O. meet the problem? It will establish more than 300 service clubs outside of camps, naval stations, defense production centers and overseas bases. The Government will provide the buildings, and the U. S. O. will have to find the funds to operate these clubs and their programs.

Why doesn't the Government provide operating funds? Government cannot supply funds for private activities, and it has been found that the service men seek civilian or private status when off duty.

It also would be against the whole theory of American democracy to have the state financially control work conducted by religiously affiliated organizations.

With What Money?
Where will U. S. O. get its funds? U. S. O. believes that private citizens owe it to the youth that is defending them to provide decent and pleasant surroundings for their leisure hours. It will seek funds through private subscription, thus giving citizens strengthened morale through active participation. Moreover, it is held that citizens have some spiritual responsibility for the defense forces.

Who's Who In U. S. O.
Who are the leaders of the U. S. O.? The directors of the U. S. O. include: Walter Hoving, Walter J.

Cummings, R. J. le Boeuf, Jr., Frank L. Well, Francis P. Matthews, W. Spencer Robertson, Mrs. Henry A. Ingraham, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Thomas J. Watson, Stillman P. Westbrook, Mrs. Harold I. Pratt, John M. Schiff, Luke E. Hart, Hobart McPherson, Lester Armour, Rev. Dr. David de Sola Pool, Seabury C. Mastic, Miss Emma P. Hirth, Louis Kraft, Rev. Howard J. Carroll, Miss Bertha McCall, Commissioner E. J. Parker, Jay A. Urice, Mrs. Arthur Forrest Anderson and Milo J. Warner. Thomas E. Dewey is National Campaign Chairman.

The Board is being expanded to include representative leaders throughout the entire nation.

The Program
What is the basis of the U. S. O. program? To serve the religious, spiritual, welfare, educational and social needs in the armed forces and defense industries of the United States, and in general to contribute to the morale of our defense forces and the communities in which they are based.

But how will it attain these ends? Each club will have its own program designed to meet its peculiar local needs. They may include such projects as:

Religious service for those of varying faiths, in cooperation with chaplains of the forces and churches in the community.

Counsel and guidance for personal problems.

Social events, and entertainments.

Hospitality in homes and the creation of opportunity for normal friendships.

Facilities for service within the clubs, such as recreation rooms, lounges, meeting rooms, possibly limited sleeping quarters and all of the services one might expect from a club.

Group activities.

Cooperation with educational and cultural programs in camp.

Hospital visiting in cooperation with chaplains and the American Red Cross.

General information services.

Aid to transient service men.

Contacts between soldiers and their homes when necessary.

Will this duplicate the regular services of the agencies which may have local units in the camp areas? No. These established units will continue their work as separate units but will endeavor to coordinate their work with the U. S. O. service clubs.

And The Finances
How will all of this work be financed? By public subscription, raised through a nation-wide appeal for support from private individuals.

How much will be required? The present goal is $10,765,000, for the first year's operation, to be raised in a national campaign.

Will these funds be used to meet normal budgets of the participating agencies? No. These funds will be used solely for the U. S. O. defense emergency program.

How was the goal fixed? Through study by a responsible budget committee, consisting of members of the participating agencies who have had experience in this direction, working in close cooperation with the government.

Will any profits accrue from the operation of these clubs? No. The U. S. O. and its member agencies are all non-profit organizations.

When
Why don't the agencies each carry out their programs independently? Because they eliminate duplication and decrease expense by working together.

Because they promote national unity and interfaith fellowship by working together.

Because it is faster and less costly for you to give once for all than six times for each.

Should we help elsewhere if we are already helping soldiers and sailors who visit our community? Yes. This program is to take care of the need where local resources are insufficient, what all the local people can do still falls woefully short. To do this is a joint national responsibility of all agencies.

When does the campaign start? It is planned to have the campaign organized so that the appeal may be launched in every community in the United States by June 3rd.

Are gifts acceptable now? Yes. Money is needed immediately. Gifts may be forwarded to the U. S. O., Empire State Building, New York City.

How can I help? Volunteer for service in the U. S. O. campaign in your own city or town.

At the luncheon meeting Tuesday at 12:15 in The Castleton, heads of the various campaign committees will discuss the plan of giving each and every citizen an opportunity to do his share in carrying out the U. S. O. campaign in New Castle and surrounding vicinity. Chairman Flaherty will preside at the meeting.

BICYCLIST IS INJURED FRIDAY
Harry Marshall, aged 10 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Marshall of 417 Winter avenue, suffered slight injuries at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening while riding a bicycle at the intersection of Laurel boulevard and Logan street, when his bicycle was struck by an automobile driven by William Jenkins of Laurel boulevard.

Marshall was taken to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he received treatment.

Dear Brother Lion:
Our meeting next Tuesday has been arranged by the special program committee.

Every member will be interested. If you have not received your primary ballot be sure to ask for it. The primary election will be June 3.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT,
Secretary.
